VOLUME XVI

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY JULY 30, 1913.

NUMBER 39

Change in Rural Route.

July 18, 1913
Hon. Harvey Helm,
House of Representatives
My dear Sir:
With further reference to your communication of the 7th ultimo, requesting that the service on star route No. 29831, Kemp to Milltown, Ky., be changed so that the carrier may begin and end his trips at Pickett, I beg to state that the matter has had careful consideration and, in view of the fact that the service would not be impaired, the route has been changed from August 1, 1913, so that the carrier may begin and end his trips at Pickett as requested by you.

Very truly yours,
Jas. S. Blamlee,
Fourth Assistant Postmaster General.

Office of BENTON McMILLAN Nashville, Tenn.

Sept. 27th, 1909
To whom it may concern:

I am personally acquainted with the bearer of this, Mr. W. Tanner Ottley, and have been for years. I take pleasure in stating that he is a man of exemplary habits, high integrity, great energy, and worthy of truth and confidence. He will discharge faithfully his obligations and undertakings, and I take great pleasure in commending him.

Very Respectfully,
Benton McMillan.
Benton McMillan was born in Cumberland county or Allen county, Ky., served four terms as Governor of Tennessee.

Mr. Ottley was born in Richmond, Va., 1875, educated in the public school, said city, and afterwards at the University of Virginia.

To the Democrats of Adair County

Inasmuch as I have canvassed the county and as near as possible seen every Democrat in the county, I take this method of asking you one more time, to come out and support me. I shall not use money or anything else to influence the voters. I feel that if nominated I can carry the full strength of the party in the November election. I have not said any thing in any way disrespectful of any of my opponents, and if nominated I will appreciate the nomination. But should the Democrats of this county deem it best to nominate some one else I will abide by your decision and make the strongest fight possible for the party.

Yours Truly,
S. G. Denney.

Tuesday afternoon Miss Alice Walker very delightfully entertained a number of her friends at an informal porch party in honor of Misses Irene and Ruth Rafert, of Indianapolis, the guests of Miss Jennie McFarland. The refreshments consisted of grape sherbert and cake. The following were present: Mesdames Robert Reed, W. J. Flowers, P. A. Strange, G. E. Wilson, S. F. White and Tim Craveus. Misses Irene and Ruth Rafert, Jennie McFarland, Mae Stults, Edna Lewis, Rose Hyed, Vic Hughes, Mary Chandler, Lillie Judd, Margaret Todd, Golda English, Alma McFarland, Katie Murrell, Alice and Ella Walker.

Bert Boston, of Metcalfe county, lost another barn a few nights ago by fire. Also one hundred barrels of corn. It will be remembered that he had a barn burned some time ago, and that a man named Jas. Poore was arrested and lodged in jail, charged with the crime. He broke jail and it is believed that he fired the last barn. Every effort is being made to apprehend him.

We learn from Mr. W. T. Price, circuit court clerk, that suits for the September term of the Adair circuit court, are being filed very slowly. Only four up to this time and three of them are petitions for divorces. Hereafter up to this date twelve or fourteen suits were filed. The indications point to a very dull September term, though there is much time for many suits to be filed. Few law suits indicate that fellowmen are at peace with each other.

Mr. Walker Bryant has purchased the Dr. O. S. Dunbar residence in this place, price $2,200. He is now in control of the property, and will remove to it at an early date. The buying of this property makes it unnecessary for him to build, as he contemplated putting up a brick.

August 19—20—21—22.

All the candidates were in town Saturday, and there was a general hand shaking throughout the day.

Death of Dofe Smith.

The subject of this writin was born and reared on Pelham Branch two and a half miles from Columbia, and was about sixty-six years old when his earthly career ended last Sunday week. He had been an invalid for more than a year, a victim of heart trouble which caused his demise. He was a quiet, unassuming citizen and was well-liked by all the people of the neighborhood in which he resided.

Before his health failed he was constantly engaged, as he was a very good mechanic and his services were in demand.

He leaves a wife and several sons and daughters and one brother and one sister to our knowledge.

A great many relatives and friends attended the funeral and burial.

W. A. Helm Dead.

The subject of this article, who was a resident of Columbia, died in the Elizabeth Hospital, Lebanon, last Monday night, a victim of cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Helm was a native of Russell county, but about eight or nine years ago he became a citizen of this place. He was a fine gentleman, a strict member of the Methodist church, and as a machinist he had no equal in this part of the State. He will not only be missed from his family and Columbia, but from all adjoining counties.

The funeral services were held in this place to-day, conducted by Rev. J. S. Chandler, hundreds of friends being in attendance. The interment was in the city cemetery.

All Columbia is in sympathy with the sorrowing wife and devoted children. May God sustain them in this hour of great distress is the wish of this paper.

To the Public.

As it has been reported in a few localities of this county that an independent candidate can not run and get his name on the ballot for the November election under the new primary election law, I beg leave to submit to the public the following communication from the office of the Attorney General at Frankfort.

We beg to advise you that the Primary Election Law does not prohibit a person from being a candidate on an independent ticket. He may get his name on the ballot under the old law in the manner pointed out in section 1453, Kentucky Statutes.

Yours very truly,
M. M. Logan

Assistant Attorney General.

I wish to state further that as an independent candidate I will have nothing to do with the primary election next Saturday. I will have my picture made for a device at the November election, and all who wish to vote for Tobias Huffaker for school Superintendent can stamp within the circle under his picture at the November election.

Respectfully,
Tobias Huffaker.

There is no saying truer than "murder will out." Twenty-seven years ago Richard Allen killed Charles Tucker in Casey county. He was tried and sentenced to a term in the penitentiary, but made his escape from jail before being taken to Frankfort. He went to Missouri and settled on a farm, where he reared a family and led what was apparently a most exemplary life. Tucker's sons never forgot the murder of their father, but kept on the hunt of his slayer until they were rewarded by securing his capture and had him delivered to the authorities of Casey county after twenty-seven years.

For sale, at public auction, on the public square next Monday (county court day), 2 bedsteads and springs, 6 cane bottom chairs, 1 extension dining table, 1 hat rack, 1 refrigerator, 1 tin safe and other articles.

Mrs. S. A. Bradshaw.

A fine rain fell last Monday in the Glensfork neighborhood, coming within two miles of Columbia. This town and its surroundings seem to be the driest spot in the county.

The Murray Dibblell Shoe Company of Nashville, will open a large dry goods establishment in the Odd Fellows Hall, Jamestown, in a very short time. It will perhaps enliven business in that locality.

Mr. Ernest Harris gave a social last Monday night in honor of Mr. Paul Vardeman, of Frankfort. A large number of young people put in appearance, and the evening was most delightfully spent.

Visit to Mammoth Cave.

The following young people from this place composed a party that spent Friday and Saturday most delightfully at Mammoth Cave:

Misses Ora and Maltie Moss, Alma and Jennie McFarland, Mollie Jeffries, Irene and Ruth Rafert, Cary Rosenfield, Katie Murrell, Messrs. Clay and Herbert Smith.

From the Cave Misses Ora and Maltie Moss went to Franklin, to be the guests of Miss Moss Davis, Miss Cary Rosenfield to Smith's Grove, to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Geo. Rosenfield, Misses Irene and Ruth Rafert, who have been the guests of the Misses McFarland, returned to their home, at Indianapolis, Messrs. Herbert and Clay Smith went to Bowling Green, Misses Jeffries, Murrell, Jennie McFarland returned home Saturday night, and Miss Alma McFarland went on to Whitewood to be the guest of Miss Frances Workman.

Program.

The Adair County Medical Society, on account of the Russell Springs Society meeting on the same day, will meet in Columbia one week later, on Thursday, August 14th, 1913, when the following program will be rendered:

Senile Gangren—H. B. Simpson, Breeding, Ky.

Articular Rheumatism—S. A. Taylor, Montpelier, Ky.

A case of Amobee Dysentery—C. M. Russell, Columbia, Ky.

A paper of his own selection—S. P. Miller, Columbia, Ky.

A paper of his own selection—S. J. Simmons, Gradyville, Ky.

We want every doctor in the county to be here, and take a part in the discussion and business.

U. L. Taylor, Secretary.

Mr. L. E. Eubank, who visited his brother, J. T. Eubank (Tom) at Stith-ton, Hardin county, recently, reports that he is getting along nicely. He owns a small farm, has four daughters married, has twelve grandchildren, and one son and two daughters at home. He votes the Democratic ticket at every election, is posted not only politically, but about every thing else that is going on in the world. Coyle, as he was familiarly called by his old comrades in this place, told his brother, when the latter was leaving for Columbia, that he expected to be here at our Fair, commencing the 19th of August. Every body will be ready to give him the glad hand, to see him out his tobacco, and to hand out a few political ideas, as forcible reminders of the days of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Taylor County Enquirer has been leased to Messrs. J. R. Pro & E. B. Butler, and they are now in charge of the paper. It will be devoted to the building up of Campbellsville and Taylor county. The politics of the publication remain Democratic, but it will denounce the wrong doings of all parties. The new management have the best wishes of this paper.

Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips Lewis, who was the wife of Hon. John W. Lewis, who is a prominent lawyer and politician, died at her late home, Springfield, Ky., on Tuesday, the 22 inst. The husband of the deceased is related to quite a number of residents of Columbia.

Capt. Geo. Nell fell in attempting to get in his buggy one day last week, hurting one of his hips very badly. Since the accident he has been confined to his room, but he is getting better. He has been a very feeble man for months and his friends would be glad to again see him himself.

Mr. Z. T. Richards, who was a brother of Mr. J. W. Richards, this place, died in Wamego, Kansas, the 5th of July. He was sixty-four years old and was born and reared in Adair county. He left here when 22 years of age.

Mr. Oscar Kemp, son of the late J. T. Kemp, Bradfordsville, was married to a young lady of Gravel Switch, Marion county, last week. The couple moved to Jeffersonville for the ceremony.

Corn suffered dreadfully during the extreme hot weather and hot winds and on account of the lack of moisture. It is said that the crop prospects of a month ago have been cut down at least one fourth, that is in Adair county.

August 19—20—21—22.

The Roberts meeting closed Sunday night. It was well attended throughout the series.

L. C. Kelley.

On August 24, Rev. L. C. Kelley will move to Campbellsville to assume charge as pastor of the Baptist church.

Bro. Kelley is known in Kentucky having held several pastorates and accomplished other notable and noble works in the kingdom of God.

Bro. Kelley is a native of Alabama, but came to Kentucky to complete his education at Georgetown College. After completing his education he became interested in the temperance cause of our state and established and published, for several years, The Kentucky Issue, which is now published by the Anti-saloon League, under the title The Kentucky Edition of the American Issue.

Bro. Kelley married a Kentucky lady, Miss Nancy Newland, of Stanford, and soon after moved to Orinda, Tenn.

We welcome Bro. Kelley and his estimable wife back to this state, and to Campbellsville, and to the Russell Creek Association and speak for him and Mrs. Kelley a hearty welcome into the hearts and homes of our people.

Leg Broken.

Last Sunday afternoon Mr. John Read and wife, who live near Kelleyville, were badly hurt in an accident. They were in a buggy, and for some reason the horse became scared and ran at break-neck speed. The occupants were thrown from the vehicle, and one of Mr. Read's legs was broken and Mrs. Read was considerably bruised.

Miss Frances Garnett was the hostess a few evenings ago at a "500" party given in honor of Miss Martha McDowell, of Danville, and Miss Martha Sparks, of Mount Vernon, the guests of Miss Alice Thrashley Williams. The house was artistically decorated with suillowers and greens and the yellow color scheme was attractively carried out in the ice, confections and tallies. The first prize which was won by Miss Anna Grayot, was a beautiful silver picture frame, and the guests prizes were Kewpies. Miss Garnett's guests included the following: Misses Martha McDowell, Martha Sparks, Alice Thrashley Williams, Frances Settle, Rose Williams, Martha Tom LeBus, of Cynthia, Anna Hobson, Anna Grayot, Jane Addams, Belle Sale, Evangeline Crecelius, May Morris Hoge, Evelyn Hoge, Charlott Mastin, Della Sale, June Sale, Charlotte Watson, Louise Wood, Elsie Kidd and Musette Veatch.—Frankfort State Journal.

Every body in Russell county is in sympathy with young Leslie Hale in whose hands was the gun which was accidentally discharged, killing Mr. James Stearnman. It was purely an accident, the dead man being a warm friend to Mr. Hale. Much sympathy is also felt for the family of the deceased, the unfortunate occurrence bringing great sorrow to the wife, children and friends.

Choice heavy hogs sold on the Louisville market last Wednesday $9.20; Mediums and lights, $9.40. The cattle market was also high and not likely to be lower this week. Lambs were also up to the top notch.

The following marriage licenses were issued from the Adair county clerk's office in the last few weeks: Austin Wilson to Sarah Bryant; S. M. Bottom to Golda Harrison; John Hughes to Martha A. King; Geo. W. Kemp to Dollie Bennett.

The old stage coach is evidently gone from the pike forever. The Automobiles are doing good service and they are here to stay. The time is so much easier and quicker, it would be a difficult matter to get the traveling public to again take the hack.

We can't understand with big reduction in the number of school children why there is not an increase in the school per capita, especially as there has also been an increase in property assessment.—E. Town News.

The meeting conducted at Milltown by Elds. Z. T. Williams and Luther Young closed with twenty-eight additions and the church greatly revived.

The primary will be pulled off next Saturday. There will be some disappointed aspirants after the ballots are counted, but they will soon get over the defeat, and will enter heartily into the contest for the success of the nominees at the November election.

Mrs. Geo. W. Lowe will please accept our thanks for a number of very fine tomatoes, the most choice lot we have seen this season.

A Warning to Parents.

Last Sunday afternoon Mr. Geo. E. Wilson and Mr. James Arvin went to the creek to take a swim. Mr. Wilson's little son, Davis, accompanied them. While the two former were in deep water, Davis was left at the edge of the stream, where the water was very shallow, and told to remain there. Presently Mr. Arvin noticed that he had gotten into deep water, over his head, and had gone down once. He hurried to his rescue and saved him. Mr. Wilson, who was further from his son than Mr. Arvin, could not have reached him in time. There was great rejoicing that the lad was rescued, and this notice is made as a warning to parents.

Fifty-Eight Years.

Mr. Sar. Lewis and family celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday last Friday. The event was honored by a magnificent dinner. Mr. Lewis came to this country in 1872 and for about sixteen or eighteen years he and his family have resided in Columbia where they have many friends. Mr. Lewis is a produce dealer and is well-known in all the adjoining counties for correct dealing with his fellow man. We hope he may live to enjoy many more birthdays.

Mr. W. S. Hughes, sheriff of Russell county, was in Columbia the first of last week, having in charge a young man named Brown, who he was conveying to Eddyville. Brown was convicted in the Russell circuit court of murder and sent up for life. Mr. Carson Falkenburg accompanied Sheriff Hughes as far as this place.

The weather has been dry so long that many wells in town have got low, making water scarce with some families. The well at the electrical plant is also weak and unless rain comes in the next few days the plant will have to be supplied with water from the creek.

Mrs. Tina Wells was called to Swan Pond Bottom last week on account of the death of her brother-in-law, William Winfrey, who died rather suddenly. It is thought with blood poisoning. He had a sore foot but was able to feed his stock up to the day before he died. He was about 71 years of age.—Russell County Advance.

Two years ago a catbird commenced lighting in the porch of Mr. J. W. Coy. Mrs. Coy at the same time commenced to feed it. In a very short time the bird became tame, and flew into the porch regularly to be fed. Now Mrs. Coy feeds it from her hand, the visits being daily made.

Mr. Eugene Wethington purchased, last week, the residence which was owned and occupied by Mr. C. M. Herford, in Russell Heights, for $1,250. Mr. Wethington will remove from Clementsville to this place in the next few days.

Rev. Swift, who is one of the editors of the Central Methodist, delivered a very entertaining lecture at the Methodist church. His theme was his travels in the orient. He is scholarly and his lecture was valuable to those who heard it, from an intellectual view.

Eld. Tobias Huffaker will preach at White School House on the second Sunday in August, at 11 o'clock a. m., and at Neatsburg or Little Cake on the third Sunday in August at 11 o'clock a. m.

Miss Minnie Skaggs, wife of Mr. Charles Skaggs, Taylor county, was accidentally killed a few days ago. She was sweeping out a pantry when a shot gun, which was standing in the corner, fell and was discharged with result as above stated.

Last Tuesday while carpenters were at work on the dwelling of Mr. Horace Jeffries, the scaffold gave way and Mr. W. C. Murrell sustained a badly sprained wrist. Mr. W. T. McFarland was also on the scaffold, but he escaped unhurt.

Tuesday of last week was Mr. W. C. Murrell's sixty-third birthday. His wife, relatives and friends surprised him with a very delightful dinner. Twelve or fourteen persons were present. Mr. Murrell received several nice presents.

August 19—20—21—22.

We are sending out statements to our subscribers, asking them to pay up and renew. We need every cent that is due the office and we trust our friends will respond promptly.

Born, to the wife of Charles Young, July 23, 1913, a son.

Miss Eva Walker entertained Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Rachel Crawford, of Winchester. There were twenty girls present and delightful refreshments were served.

The ballots for Adair and Russell counties are being printed at this office, and will be in the hands of the county clerks in due time.

Mr. C. S. Harris threshed about eight hundred bushels of first-class oats, grown on thirty acres. The oat crop throughout the county is reported good.

F. J. Barger and Luther Young will conduct a revival meeting at Shiloh, beginning the first Sunday in August.

W. B. Taylor, of Owenton, Ky., will assist Eld. Z. T. Williams in a series of meetings at Glensville, beginning the third Sunday in August.

During the Roberts meeting there were, perhaps persons in attendance who had not been in church before for six or eight years.

Nathan McKinley has just completed a handsome addition to his residence. Mr. J. W. Richards did the work.

I have a thorough-bred Jersey Bull, $1.00 at the gate.

Obituary

On the 13th of June, 1913, the Death Angel visited the home of Mr. Willis Page and claimed for its victim his beloved wife, Nina. She had been confined to her bed since October, 1912. Had she lived till September 30th, she would have been 84 years old. She leaves a husband and eight children and a host of friends and relatives who deeply sympathize with the bereaved ones in this the saddest hour of their lives. Mrs. Page was a kind and loving mother and was loved by all who knew her. She will be greatly missed in the neighborhood in which she lived, but most of all by her husband and children who are so lonely without her, but weep not as those who have no hope for she is safe with Jesus and is beckoning to loved ones to join her around God's eternal throne where there will be no parting and sad good byes. Her sickness was one of suffering all the time. Every effort was made to relieve her pain, but to no avail. She has gone to try the realities of that great beyond. It is such a sweet thought for her loved ones to know she is at rest with Jesus and that sooner or later they all can join her around God's eternal throne.

After religious services were conducted by Revs. Campbell and Jessey the remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends who had assembled to pay the last respects to noble and good woman. Broken hearted, sorrowing loved ones hear God's promises pure and best come to me ye heavy laden I will surely give you rest, cast your cares on loving Jesus until life's hard toils are won, sweetly then go home to glory. Home sweet home that you have won, then peacefully she shall slumber peaceful in the grave so low. She no more will join our number, she no more our tears will know. Let us strive to meet her where the cares of life have fled and where there's joy and peace and gladness and where no farewell tears are shed.

Downtight Perversity.

Out of sheer perversity the corporations of the United States persist in being prosperous.

Although the air resounds with complaints of dull times, persecution and anxiety over political conditions, these same corporations show larger earnings than ever before, according to the reports made to the Corporations Tax Division of the Treasury. Although Wall street is in the dumps, although tariff and currency reform and Congressional investigations have driven Big Business to despair of the future of the Republic, the corporations have gone on piling up their profits at a rate exceeding all previous records.

It is ungrateful, it is base, it is treacherous in them to flaunt their prosperity in the faces of their own prophets of disaster. If they had half a sense of decency and right, if they were not utterly consciousnessless, they would have made it a rule to lose more money than ever before. They deserve to be rebuked by every right-thinking patriot.

Public Sale of Farm and Timber.

On Saturday, the 30th day of Aug., at Cane Valley, Adair county, Ky., at 1 o'clock, p. m., or thereabout, the heirs of W. B. Sublett, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the farm of about 214 acres of land in Green county, Kentucky, about 4 miles west of Cane Valley near the Columbia and Campbellsville pike, it being the home farm of said W. B. Sublett. There are about 75 acres of this land that is well timbered with poplar, white oak, hickory, and ash of the best quality. The poplar, white oak, ash and hickory timber and the land will first be offered separate, and then all together and the bid or bids accepted that bring the most money. If the timber is sold separate from the land, the purchaser will be required to remove the same within 12 months from day of sale.

The timber will be sold for cash in hand, if purchased separately from the land. If the land is sold separately one third of purchase price will be required in cash and remainder on easy terms. If land and timber are sold together the value of the timber and one-third for the land to be paid in cash.

This is a fine body of agricultural land, and is well situated, as to roads, churches, schools and in good community and is well watered for pasturing stock.

The sellers reserve the right to modify the above terms on or before the day of sale, but if so modified purchasers will be notified before or at time of sale.

J. W. Sublett, James T. Sublett, R. A. Sublett, Ida Bridgwater, E. J. Kerr, Cordie Bailor.

Dyspeptic Philosophy.

All that glitters isn't inspired by the Golden Rule.

The man who has no enemies is six feet under ground.

The egotist is all I's, and expects the rest of us to be all ears.

Virtue hasn't much market value unless it has been put to the test.

The man who agrees with nobody thinks every body else is in the wrong.

Bonds sometimes fluctuate in value, even the holy bonds of matrimony.

For the Young Girl.

No girl should think her education well begun until she knows that she is acquiring the quiet, well bred manner known as poise, which is the subtle expression of beauty and strength of character, and although many young girls may consider it a quality rightly belonging to older people, it is nevertheless, a most lovely attribute of youth.

The girl who lacks poise is always smoothing her hair, settling her neck ribbon, adjusting her belt, crossing and recrossing her feet. She is twin sister to the giggling girl. It is needless to say what an annoyance it is to be long in company of either.

Where Must Young Men Look For Opportunities?

Throughout the whole United States there is a most remarkable industrial growth. Little factories are growing into big ones. New machines are being manufactured by the older establishments and frequently these become so important that great establishments are built up to take care of the demand for these new appliances.

The wonderful growth of automobile building is a good illustration. Fifteen years ago there were practically no automobiles; one concern alone in Detroit at the present time is manufacturing over one hundred thousand machines a year.

A few years ago the freight car formed a rather unimportant element of our national production. At the present time, in order to take care of the tremendous demands of transportation, freight cars are made in tens of thousands. The car has evolved from the simple wooden structure to that of elaborate steel design.

The street car and interurban service of this country has created undreamed of requirements for rolling stock of this sort.

All the small towns as well as the large ones make use of electrical energy. This means electrical power plants equipped with machinery embodying the very latest improvements in both electrical generator and transmission devices.

One of the most fascinating fields of endeavor that has been created in the last ten years is that of scientific furniture building. Grand Rapids, Michigan, has become a great center. There are a number of towns in central Indiana that turn out thousands of pieces of panel furniture at a very reasonable cost to the home builder.

Steel mills are springing up everywhere in this country and in Canada. New and efficient processes are taking the places of the old methods.

Now the question naturally arises where does the talent come from that is to take care of this great industrial evolution in this country. Our technical schools are furnishing the material. From the State University of Kentucky, for a number of years, there have gone out into the industrial world as remarkable a set of young engineers as have been graduated from any university in this country. One of the greatest authorities on heating and ventilating at the head of one of the largest concerns in New York, is a State University man. The best practice in interurban car building has been developed largely through the talent of a Kentucky man who graduated from the State University in 1897. The greatest car building establishment in Canada has been laid out from its inception by a Kentucky engineer. The greatest record that was ever made in the cost of production of steel by the United States Steel Corporation is accredited to a Kentuckian. A great deal of the development of the Anaconda Copper Company can be attributed to the splendid engineering ability of an early Kentucky graduate, who has been with this company for the last seventeen years. One of the prominent automobile companies is headed by one of the men from this commonwealth's institution of learning. The company was started and financed and formed into its present shape by this man. A Kentucky man succeeded in reducing the cost of the production of cut glass thirty per cent., through new processes he instituted. The company that he is connected with produces more blanks for glass cutting than any other. It was recently a Kentucky man who by careful processes of manipulation reduced very materially the cost of creosoting timber.

This year every graduate in mechanical and electrical engineering from the State University of Kentucky, had at least three places to choose from. The successes that have been made by the graduates of the State University of Kentucky have established beyond a question the fact that it is one of the greatest training schools in America for young men who are interested in the great sciences of steam engineering, electrical engineering, heat and ventilating, machine tool building, architectural engineering, locomotive building, car building, engine building and telephone engineering and every Kentucky young man, practically without expense, except that of living, is entitled to receive at the State University a training that will equip him for a life of usefulness and one that will be remunerative. The profession of mechanical and electrical engineering to-day offers as much opportunity for social and financial standing as any of the older professions or any commercial activity. After young men have acquired commercial experience there is unlimited opportunity for the contracting engineer in the erection of power plants, railway lines, in manufacturing concerns and in the erection of great structures. He takes the forces and material of nature and weaves them into magnificent and costly industrial fabrics.

Every young man who has sufficient fundamental schooling to enter the State University should not fail to equip himself in the best possible way through his State institution for a career in which competition will have the least effect upon his success. There is a demand for the technically trained mechanical engineer that cannot be supplied, and when the industrial growth of this country is considered. We can hardly think of a condition arising in several generations that will make it impossible for the well trained mechanical engineer to make a good living and be useful, not only to himself, but to the world at large.

Rid Your Children of Worms

You can change fretful, ill-tempered children into healthy, happy youngsters, by ridding them of worms. Tossing, rolling grinding of teeth crying out while asleep, accompanied with intense thirst, pains in the stomach and bowels, feverish and bad breath, are symptoms that indicate worms. Kickapoo Worm Killer, pleasant candy lozenge, expels the worms, regulates the bowels, restores your children to health and happiness. Mrs. J. A. Brisbin, of Elgin, Ill., says: "I have used Kickapoo Worm Killer for years, and entirely rid my children of worms. I would not be without it." Guaranteed. Price 25c. Sold by Paul Drug Co.

Sermon on Luck.

We'll tell you about this thing called luck. It comes to the person who keeps the weeds cut down so that it can find him. Luck sometimes walks up and collars an idler, but it is more apt to nab the man who is busy doing the best he can all the time. Luck isn't lying around on the street allowing the loafers to cover it with whittlings. Neither is it a stream waiting for some lazy fisherman to hook it.

Luck generally goes hand in hand with industry. If you sit around and wait for luck to hand you a bag of gold and make you a rich man you are pretty apt to end your days in a poor house. A four leaf clover will bring more luck to the busy man than it will to the loafer. It may seem a little tough for a man to work hard for a long time and then have his earnings all swept from him at a single stroke, but it is better to have had it and lost it than never to have had it at all. And another thing; luck isn't labeled. So it will do you no good to stand around and look for it. When luck starts out to look for you, you won't be able to hide from it. go to work.

Mexico's Attitude.

Mexico's attitude toward the United States is causing considerable concern at Washington. Piqued because of the refusal of President Wilson to recognize his government, President Huerta is encouraging treatment of American citizens and property in Mexico that may compel this country to employ drastic measures to defend the same. Believing that American intervention will help their cause, Mexican revolutionists are also endeavoring in every way possible to secure American invasion. Between the established government and the revolutionary forces a situation is being created which at almost any moment may develop into war.

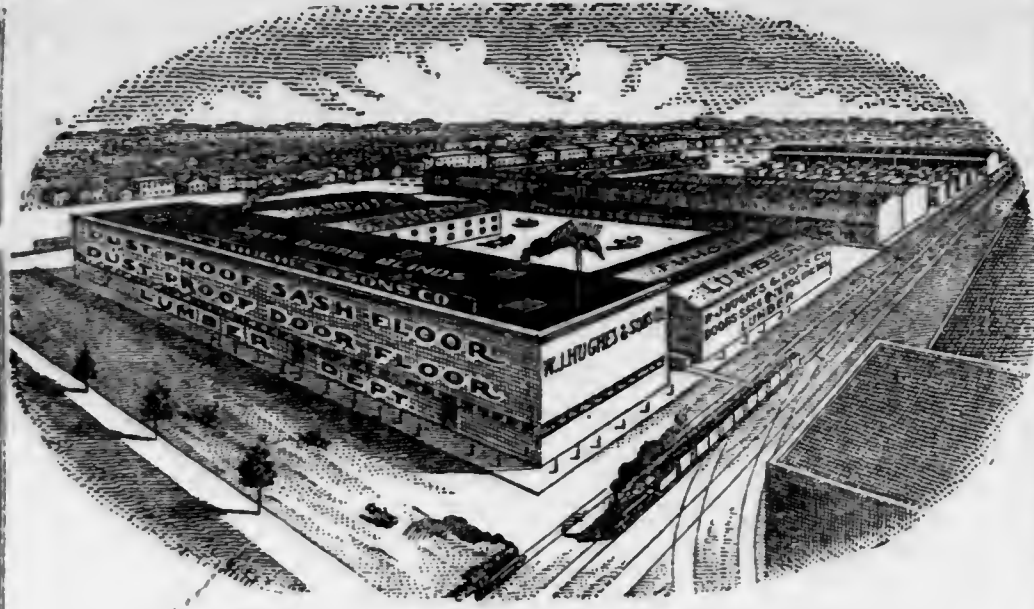

Mexican newspapers, evidently inspired by the Huerta government, openly declare that American invasion would be resisted by a reunited Mexico. It has been impossible for President Huerta to re-establish peace, even though his government has been recognized by European nations, and his treasury has been filled by loans made by them. Unless peace be soon established the Huerta government must fall, as its resources are again nearly exhausted, and its relations with the "neutrals" are fast becoming strained. Should the great body of non-combatants go over to the revolutionists, the fall of Huerta would be certain. The only way he sees to prevent this is to enlist them in the defense of Mexico against the United States.

This is undoubtedly the ulterior purpose of his present encouragement of insults to American citizens and injury to their property. In it he may succeed, for there are evidences that the authorities at Washington already feel that patience regarding Mexico has ceased to be a virtue.

FIVE CENT MEAL SOLVED PROBLEM

It Helped Reduce Expenses of Domestic Science Course.

ATTENDANCE 100 PER CENT.

Colored High School of Owensboro
Among the First to Offer Full Four Year Instruction in Household Arts.
Every Girl Pupil and Several Boys
Now Enrolled.

Three years ago, when very few
high schools in Kentucky were offering a course in domestic science, the Colored High school at Owensboro
made a beginning. The board of education there at that time, like many others in the state, was hampered by a lack of funds. The board also had before it the experience of other schools where the expense account of the domestic science course had proved quite a burden. It was a difficult problem, but the faculty of the high school felt that the work could be put upon a basis that would make it almost self sustaining.

Today the Colored High school of Owensboro has a four year course in domestic science and will graduate
seven girls that have taken this full course. During these four years only three girls have failed to take the course, and this year 100 per cent of the girls in the high school take domestic science. Besides these girls,
it might be well to add that there are eight boys enrolled in the classes, so that the figures should really read 100 per cent plus.

A five cent dinner and lunch counter
handled by the domestic science department have made this splendid work possible. The cost of material in both cooking and sewing classes
has been met each year by the board of education paying a deficit of about $5 a month.

The preparation of this five cent dinner would seem to be a definite loss in some of the technical training, but it appears otherwise when one visits the school.

It appears to be of absolute value in the general training, as the girls are used in small relays, so that each girl
in the school comes to this special work once a week. The class book,
which is carefully kept, shows exactly
the work the pupil has done each time
she has been on duty for a dinner and
luncheon.

If she has made bisquit and afterward cleaned the stove this week the next she will probably prepare a salad
and clean the refrigerator. In the

A FIVE CENT MEAL.

course of the school year she will have covered a certain definite amount of practical housekeeping work. There is the added value that she has prepared this food in quantities sufficient
for an ordinary family, and not in laboratory quantities.

It might be urged that a high school
is not a vocational school, and that our schools are not preparing girls for lunch room service. This is all true,
but the greatest indictment brought against our schools today is that they do not give our boys and girls a grip
on live, real, everyday things. The work in this school seems to give this
and at the same time helps to sustain itself while giving all the pupils something that is wholesome to eat at a remarkably low price.

There are high schools all over the country that cannot afford domestic science. There are many others where the girls are doing laboratory domestic science, and a large percentage of the pupils go to the corner grocery or a cheap confectionery for their noon
luncheon.

The value as well as the economy of
serving the children with an appetizing, inexpensive meal, scientifically prepared, is obvious. Their health is conserved and a practical course in domestic science is made possible.

Is it not possible to gain both things
at the same time by a carefully prepared course of study?

It certainly is worth thinking about,
for people everywhere are looking to the school for more real every day efficiency.

Don't Get Into a Rut.

A rut in the road is bad enough, but
a rut in your life work is infinitely
worse. Get out of the rut and come to Louisville April 30, May 1, 2 and 3, to the forty-second annual meeting of the Kentucky Educational association.

It'll do you good to meet new faces
and see some of the old ones again.
It'll do you good to see and know that Kentucky is thoroughly alive educationally. It'll do you good to see over 5,000 people together who are interested in education.

If never there, you ought to go.
If ever there, you'd want to go.

THE STREETS OF NAPLES.

They Are the Workshops of the People
In the Poorer Quarters.

The ancient city of Naples has always been more celebrated for its beauty and interest of its surroundings
than for its own attractiveness or scenic advantages.

The charm of Naples itself lies in its life—the careless, open air life of its people, with much of it passed almost wholly out of doors under the gaze of the passerby. The Neapolitan
is the most buoyant, light hearted creature in the world and it must be added, about the most indolent. The streets are bright and moving pictures.
Many of the people, men, women and children—when these latter are not innocent of any clothing—are garbed in
strange and somewhat gaudy costume,
with bright colored kerchiefs on their heads.

In the poorer and more populous
quarters all handicrafts and occupations are carried on out of doors, and
the streets are as busy as beehives.
Tailors are seen at their work, and
carvers of lava, tortoise shell and coral
articles, makers of statuary, women
sewing, cooking and performing all their domestic duties, men, women and children eating, sleeping, chattering,
playing, singing, all in the open. There is no cessation to the noise and bustle
in the streets from early morning,
when the tinkle of goat bells starts
the day, until the evening, when countless mandolin players, wandering from
house to house, from trattoria to cafe,
"singing for their supper" of macaroni
and red wine the famous old love
songs of Naples and popular operatic airs.

All day long the rattle of wheels, the cracking of whips, the furious shouting of drivers, the jingle of the elaborately decorated harness, the cries of innumerable street hawkers, the playing of military bands as regiments
march through the streets, fill the air
with a not unpleasant and thoroughly
Neapolitan din.—American Travelers' Magazine.

BREVITY APPRECIATED.

Japanese Courtesy Was a Bore to Both Oriental and Englishman.

Oriental courtesy takes up a great deal of time and on that account is not always appreciated in western lands.
as is shown in the following extract
from Yoshio Markino's book on Englishwoman, "Miss John Bull," in which
he says:

"I used to live in Greenwich, and
thence I attended to the Japanese naval office in the morning, then to the night school of the Goldsmith Institute. It was nearly 11 o'clock every night when I arrived at my digs. I was dead tired. The landlord asked me every evening:

"How were you getting on with
your work today?"

"I always answered him every small detail of my work at the office and the school. One day I said to my land-
lady:

"Why is your husband giving me
such a troublesome question? You see, I often feel too tired to answer."

"She patted me and said:
"My poor boy, you need not give him all information of your work. It is our custom to say "How are you getting on?" and if you simply say
"All right" that will be quite enough."

"The next evening the old man put
the same question to me. At first I rather hesitated because I thought
such an abrupt answer might offend
him, but I got courage at last when I saw his wife giving me some sign in her eyes. I shouted loudly, 'All right!'
To my surprise, the old man seemed
more satisfied than to hear the details.
"Since this event I began to incline
to have more friendship with John Bull than John Bull's!"

Chilling Prospect.

It was in Lincolnshire, and the guard of the train at the preceding
junction had been attentive to a gentleman whose luggage he noticed was labeled to an out of the way little station a few miles beyond. On reaching the traveler's destination the guard,
having carefully deposited the gen-
tleman's traps on the platform in ac-
knowledgegment of a generous tip, solemnly grasped the donor's hand and feelingly shook it. This unusual move
raised the curiosity of the passenger.
The guard answered significantly:

"Well, sir, you never can tell. I have left several gentlemen such as you at this forsaken hole, but never picked one up. Goodness only knows what becomes of them. I don't."—London

Fixing the Guilt.

Following Tim, who was following a pair of horses, the owner of the farm
noticed that the drills Tim had been running out for potatoes were strangely irregular.

"Tim," he said, "these drills are very crooked."

"Faith, they are now," assented Tim.
"but you should have seen them this mornin' before th' sun warped them."

Stupid.

"I wish I was half as beautiful as Miss Brown," remarked the fair Edith to Mr. Green.

"Well, you are, you know," replied
Green thoughtlessly.

Then he wondered why she suddenly
rose and left him.

HOME GARDEN CLUBS GROWING

Campfire Girls of Louisville
Use Vacant Lots.

ADVICE FROM AN EXPERT.

Children Taught to Help Furnish Their Own Tables With Fresh Vegetables.
Idea Is Spreading to Country Towns.
Future Men and Women in Close Contact With Growing Things.

The continual cry, "Back to the soil,"
that is heard in the newspapers and magazines is keeping the attention of the people in the country as well as those in the city fixed on gardening
and farming. This is not only true of the small town and the back country,
but it is also true of our big cities, for
home garden clubs are growing in popularity and in numbers each season.

This spring the city of Louisville organized a home garden club that gardening among men, women and children, and especially the children,
might be pushed. That the work might be real and that definite results might
be obtained, vacant lots were secured
at various points and model gardens

HOME GARDEN CLUB GIRLS.

planted. A man who had practical experience was engaged to take charge
of the work and is now busy moving
from place to place suggesting plans
and methods by which the children
can help furnish their own tables with vegetables fresh from their own gardens.

The photo which accompanies this article was taken on the outskirts of Louisville, where a group of four Camp
fire Girls have a model four plot garden.

This work will have a vital effect
upon the men and women of tomorrow
by giving them an understanding of a growth which can only come through close contact with the soil and growing things. Education is gradually shifting to a rational use of books and
a fuller use of the life which the child leads in the garden, in the home, and under blue skies. It means an education that makes red blood throb in young veins; it means an education that does things in the everyday world; it means an education that is close to the primitive; it means an education that fits the child for life.

"BACK TO THE SOIL."

Movement Can Be Aided by Modern Ideals and Methods.

The effort to better rural conditions
is touching a fundamental problem of American life. The "back to the soil"
movement can have little permanent effect until we go back to the tiller of
the soil with the inspiration and enlightenment of modern ideals and methods. We must carry the message
into every fertile valley and to every mountain side; we must get back from the traveled roads and the steam and electric lines; we must reach the little isolated schoolhouses, the country
churches and every other agency that can be a source of help. We can give the schoolteacher and the itinerant preacher a broader viewpoint and deeper interest in the welfare of their charges—an interest deeper because
more practical and more hopeful.

Nor must we rest with this. A striking feature of the new movement is
the determined effort to show the business man in the city that he has a point of intimate contact with the farmer—that in mutual help is to be found advantage for both.

We like this work because it is based on sound social lines. It is in harmony with the finest ideals of the time.
There is immense satisfaction to Kentuckians in finding the old state assuming a place of leadership in an undertaking so splendid and so promising.—Editorial in Louisville Herald,

How to Aid Schools.

Our public schools are not what they should be by any means mainly because of the disinterestedness of the parents. Co-operation is absolutely necessary if you would have a successful school taught in your community.
Show your interest by visiting your school. Get acquainted with the teacher, learn her strong as well as her weak point and let her understand that you are interested. Let the children
also know that you place a value upon their work.—Berry Citizen.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HELP EDUCATION

Suggestions by Louisville Commercial Club.

BENEFITS OF CO-OPERATION.

Kentucky Sunday School Association
Has Done Excellent Work, and Its Influence Can Be Extended Throughout the Efficient Aid of Public School Teachers and Superintendents.

The educational wave is rising in our old state. For a long time each and every organization that was helping the movement has been working independently. Now there is a desire to get together. The following report of a special committee on the work
of the Sunday school association and
that of the Louisville Commercial club
will explain itself.

The Kentucky Sunday School association has a splendid organization.
Every county has some form of organization. Many of the people who are interested in all the best interests
of the county are numbered among those who are connected with this association. These persons can be given a broader view of what the Sunday school, the public school and the home could do for the entire community, reaching into the physical, mental, social and spiritual development.

Not only the city pastors, but the
rural pastors, who are in a measure
leaders in the communities, are connected with the Sunday School association, and in many cases the public school teachers, superintendents of the county schools and others engaged in educational work.

The Commercial club is reaching
through its wide system of publicity,
the prizes it has been offering, and
the correspondence conducted, many
who are interested in true education,
but whose viewpoint is different from
that of Sunday school workers.

The Kentucky Sunday School association holds conventions in almost every county in the state every year,
attended by thousands of the better citizens. In addition to this several hundred district conventions and nearly
a thousand rallies and conferences
are held. This association also publishes the Kentucky Sunday School
Reporter with a circulation of about 5,000 per month.

These two organizations could greatly strengthen and advance the work
both are doing by securing one or more persons in each county who would represent both organizations. Under the direction of such persons a survey of many counties might be made, finding the present conditions and forming a common basis for future work. At the conventions held time could be given for the discussion of topics of vital interest for the upbuilding of the community, school, home and Sunday school and the length of the convention be increased to two entire days.
The same thing could be done in district convention, rallies and institutes.
By holding conferences where a wider range of topics would be presented each would be able to reach many
that have not yet become interested.
Then each could help the other.

Therefore we suggest:
First.—That in the future on all programs of institutes, conventions and rallies there be given a topic relating to the correlation of secular and religious education in the state along definite lines and that this topic be assigned to a person well informed in both religious and secular education.

In such way there might be the opportunity of bringing to the attention
of people who have never thought of the matter the value of such correlation. Because of the wide opportunity which the Sunday school speaker
has of reaching audiences in the state
this would be the surest way of arousing enthusiasm, disseminating information and removing prejudice.

Second.—That in the future at al-
lecting conventions—district, county
and state—there be chosen superintendents who shall promote the co-operation of secular and religious educational forces along definite lines.

Third.—That whenever opportunities arise the possibility of the use of the church as a social center be emphasized and encouraged, making a possible opening for the dissemination of educational ideas.

Fourth.—That at the state convention this work be made a distinct feature of the program and if possible a department session be given it.

The Truant Law.

When this law is so openly set at naught as to bring a particular case to the attention of the public it is time
that a halt was called and the man-
factor made to suffer for his shortcomings. The sending of a child to school is a moral duty, and when this moral duty is neglected by those whose duty it is to observe it is the duty of the authorities to step in and take a hand. We want to say that if the county superintendent's attention
is called to some flagrant violation and
she is compelled to act the strong arm
of the law will fall in no gentle manner upon the shoulders of the malefac-
tor. Better send the kiddies to school, which is your duty, and where they belong and thereby fulfill your moral obligation as well as avoid a conflict
with the school authorities.—Central Record.

THE ADAIR COUNTY NEWS

Published Every Wednesday

BY THE

Adair County News Company.

(INCORPORATED.)

CHAS. S. HARRIS EDITOR.

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interest of the City of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Post-office as second class mail matter.

WED. JULY 30, 1913.

THE PRIMARY.

It is not the purpose of The News to attempt to prescribe a course of action in the closing hours of the present contest. It does not claim to be able to reveal the future, but standing for the best interest of the Democratic party and the public in general, it is not the mouthpiece of any candidate, and the following is given for what it may be worth to the party in this county. Earlier in the campaign the attention of our candidates was called to the importance of a clean contest. It was stated that the best citizens of this county were not inclined to pay tribute to frauds or political debauchery, and if we are not mistaken stronger proof of the correctness of this position now exist. So, in summing up, what will it profit any man or set of men to win a nomination and lose the election next fall? Thus it is likely to be unless cool and deliberate action, rather than hot-headed impulsive support is the measure of results. The Democratic party in this county has been in the background for twenty years. It has made many commendable struggles with no hope of success. Through all the past it steered its course without factional troubles, standing for Democracy in its broadest sense, but now when division of its old antagonist has opened wide the road to victory, when insurmountable obstructions have been removed, certainly commendable conduct ought to prevail and thus clear of the troubles that threaten division and defeat. No accusation is here intended to apply to any one candidate or to any particular supporter, but to one and all alike. Rumors of various sorts are now afloat. Combinations are alleged to exist. Assertions are made that money will be used. We have found many of these rumors founded on suspicion, and, in fact, so far, not able to say from whence they came. An animated contest, one of life and activity, may be expected and is not detrimental to any party organization if conducted by fair and honorable means, but false reports and unfair methods can not work to the good of the party regardless of of who they may nominate, and the man or set of men who disregard public demands may realize, after it is too late, the cost of his mistake. The people who must decide the contests are entitled to know the facts, whether favorable or unfavorable. Now is the time to measure the difference between the men who seek the nomination and later an election. We are in position to make the strongest ticket the party has had for many years and to give this county officials that will maintain its standing and advance its interests. A ticket can be so made as to need no apology or defense for support next November. It is a family contest, brother against brother, so to speak, and the deadly weapons of misrepresentation and money can not produce good. We hope that no supporter of any one will allow his zeal to lead him beyond the limits of a square deal. The Democratic nomination does not guarantee election next fall, regardless of the division of its opponents. Victory in November depends largely on the conduct of the present contest, and as wild as this statement may appear to some, time will prove its correctness. With due caution exercised in selecting the strongest men for each place on our ticket, the men least assailable by our opponents, the stronger will be the Democratic position. As to the strongest men, the ones best fitted for the various positions, is not a matter for the News to state. This is left to the judgment of every man to determine, which ought to be done with due consideration for victory next fall and for good officials thereafter. Its a Democratic contest and it ought to be conducted on the broad plans of Democratic principles both by contestants and supporters alike. Let the truth have the broadest sway and every man do what he can to correct and suppress any false rumors that may be started, whether favorable or unfavorable to those of his choice. Truth can not be crushed, falsehood can not avail permanent good.

A CARD.

My fellow Republicans:

It is generally known that I am a candidate to represent the 16th district in the next Senate of Kentucky, and I desire through the press, to appeal to my friends, asking them to support me at the August primary for the nomination.

I have been a Republican ever since and before I reached my majority—active in every campaign, doing my utmost to advance the interest of the party that I have been identified with since I was in my teens. I feel that I can win at the final election, and I appeal to my friends to be at the polls on August 2d and vote for my nomination. If you will turn out and support me, I will consider it a great favor, and besides I will ever feel grateful.

Thanking you before hand, I am your obedient servant,
L. T. Neat.

Some Road Figures.

As Uncle Bill came out of the post office with a letter in his hand, the discussion of the tariff lulled, and one of the men yelled, "Uncle Bill——"

The old man's face wrinkled into a smile as he held up his hand and said, "Hold on, hold on, I know what you want to ask. You see this letter, it's got just the answers you want, I'll bet a hat." He pulled the letter from its envelope, adjusted his silver-rimmed spectacles and continued, "You recollect that about a week or ten days ago all of us here at the store was talking about State Aid for road building. Some of you fellows asked a whole lot of questions. One of 'em was, what some of the roads in this State cost the government."

"Have you got the figure?"
"Yep, I just went home and wrote up to Frankfort and got 'em straight. Say, there 're more of 'em an they are bigger than I thought they was. I'm going to read 'em out, if you want 'em?"

"Sure we do"—and the group drew closer about Uncle Bill as he seated himself cautiously on a nail keg.

"Well, I find that way back in 1821 Kentucky gave $1,000 to improve the grade over Muldroughs Hill. That was part of the Lexington to Nashville road. But later when the people began to build sure enough macadam roads, the State put the money up in big chunks. when they built the road from Lexington to Frankfort, she gave $78,122. That was twenty-seven miles of road. Then here are the other roads:—

Frankfort to Louisville	52 miles	$65,000
Covington to Lexington	85 miles	200,000
Louisville, Frankfort to Crab Orchard	123 miles	260,000
Louisville, Bardstown to Tennessee line	144 miles	500,000
Louisville, Bowling Green to Tennessee

line 154½ miles 442,000

"How much was that all together, Uncle Bill?"

"Wait, I just got this letter and I'll have to do some figuring," and he got a stub of a lead pencil from his vest pocket. After quite a time he announced with pride and satisfaction, "If you add in the $213,200 for the Maysville road, that makes $1,758,322 that was given in State Aid way back yonder before I and was worth much and before there was any factories or big business to tax."

"Why do you reckon they done it, Uncle Bill?"

"Because they had more every day common horse sense than we got, I reckon. They was sharp enough to see that it wasn't any tax; but an investment to boost the price of their land."

"I reckon that's so, Uncle Bill."

"Sure, it's so. The poorer your land the more you need a road to make it sell. If it is first class land and off the road, you can sell it; but if it's poor and off the road, you're up against it. Most of our land—well, it's poor enough to need a road to make it sell for a good stiff price."

"Of course, everybody knows that good roads are needed and needed bad."

"Well, then, if all of us know we ought to have good roads, and we know they'd improve the price of land, all we got to do is to find out the cheapest way, isn't it?"

"Yep."

"Well, then, if anybody's got a better and a easier way than State Aid, just trot it out and I'm for it all right."

Rowe's X Roads.

Old uncle Bill Garr is much better this week. He is able to walk around some. He is much better. The rest of our sick are getting better this week.

Mrs. Cook is visiting her children in Columbia this week. Addie Helm has got a new girl, and Mrs. Cook must go and stay with it a week.

I am just in from Casey county. have been traveling forty years, and I don't think that I ever saw as light crops as they have got in Casey county. It has not rained but a very little there all summer.

James Sullivan and wife bought ninety acres of land from Dock Barnes here at Rowe's X Roads, for about $2,000 last week.

Bill Cook bought one milk cow and calf from Dr. Barger, for $50.

Ad Aaron, of Glenville, was in to see me this week. I am always glad to see any of uncle Abe Aaron's family.

Bill Cook is getting Em Bradley's house well along. Will soon have it under roof.

Mrs. Josey Lasenby and her daughter, Lennie, spent a day with Thomas Hadley's family this week. Miss Lennie has much improved in health the last two weeks.

Sarah Ann Blair is here on a visit.

Well, this is the last week for the candidates. We will all be glad when the election is over, then my little dog will get to rest.

I want you all to vote for Dave

Elmar. He is the only one that I could get to do any thing, for me. I got him to bring me one bucket of water. He is my man.

Parcel Past Changes.

Plans for the extension, improvement and reduction of rates of the parcel post were announced last Saturday by Postmaster General Burleson. The charges, which are to become effective on August 15, include an increase from eleven pounds to twenty pounds in the maximum weight of parcels; a material reduction in the postage rates in the first and second zones, and the abandonment of the parcel post map as a means of computing rates and the substitution for it of a rate chart individualized to every postoffice in the United States.

While, for the present, the maximum weight limit of twenty pounds and the reduction of rates will apply only to the first and second zones, from any given postoffices—a distance of about 150 miles—the changes directed constitute the first long step towards a universal extension of the system and a general reduction in the rates of postage on parcel matter.

Time to be Taxed.

In Frankfort-on-Main every person of a responsible age is supposed to be well enough off to pay for his own timekeeper, be it a guaranteed chronometer or an old-time water clock. Consequently the city authorities see no reason why superfluous clocks which show their faces in the street should not be taken, and all the more so as they seldom agree with each other.

The tax proposed is one of from 30 shillings to 60 shillings yearly. It is to be levied, not in accordance with the inaccuracy of each individual clock, but according to size.

The Red-Haired Girl.

Have you red hair? Then consider this. There are several degrees of color in hair that are indiscriminately called "red", and in this connection the qualities that are supposed to go with red hair depend to a great extent to the particular tone or shade.

Erize and light chestnut hair are often mis-called red, while auburn is sometimes applied to the most glaring shades of brick red.

The French scientist, M. Girovard, asserts that all red-haired women are of a jealous disposition, because they have blood that is warmer and runs more swiftly in their veins than women with blond or dark hair. They are impulsive, hot-tempered, but affectionate. They make good friends, but bad enemies. Red-haired girls are as a rule popular with the men, for they generally have beautiful smooth, white skins and a beautiful complexion.

But remember, girls, that beauty is only skin deep. If you have red hair, try to curb your temper and forget to be jealous.

The same fellow who is playing ball with the kids in the lot next door is the same "boy" who grunted about a lame back every time his wife suggested that the side walk needed shoveling last winter.

Adair county farmers should rub down their stock and get some of the money that will be handed out during the fair.

Quarterly meeting was held at Milltown last Saturday and Sunday. Presiding Elder Hogard preached on Sunday.

Eld. H. B. Smith, of Glasgow, will assist Eld. Z. T. Williams in a revival meeting at Cane Valley beginning his first Sunday in August.

The News is one day late this week, on account of finishing up the ballots in Adair and Russell counties.

Bryan, a two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon McFarland, died last Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

There are about as many objectionable features to a primary as there are to a convention. Go in and take your medicine.

A Remedy No Family Should Do Without

No matter how healthy a human being may be it is safe to say that not many months are passed without some obstruction of the bowels, in other words, constipation, even if only temporary. The bloating, the dull feeling may start after the evening meal. If a laxative is not taken that night it is certain that sleep will not be sound, and you will awaken unrefreshed. Hence, it is important for you and for all the members of your family that a good, reliable laxative be always kept in the house for just such emergency. It is sure to be needed, and when needed you want it at hand. No family that is careful of its health can do without such a remedy. But the question of which remedy to have on hand is also of vast importance. The laxative most highly recommended by the majority of intelligent Americans as being best for babies and grownups is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It is a liquid laxative- tonic, mild and never gripes, is effective on robust people and can be given with safety to an infant. Children like it because of these gentle qualities and because it is pleasant to the taste. It is the best all-around remedy you can have in the house for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, and many people like R. H. Morgan, Price, Tenn., and Mrs. H. C. Davidson, Wartburg, Tenn., say they would as soon be without the necessities as without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Bleese Comes to Time.

Confronted with the necessity of abandoning the the encampment of the National guard of South Carolina unless he assured Findley M. Garrison, Secretary of War, of an intention to comply with the Dick law, which governs Federal appropriations, to the state militia, Gov. Cole L. Bleese has telegraphed Mr. Garrison that he would obey the law.

In defiance of the law, he recently refused to muster out 12 companies of the militia which had failed to measure up to the standard of efficiency required by the War department. Secretary Garrison in formed Gov. Bleese that all Federal aid would be withdrawn from the South Carolina militia.

As South Carolina depends almost entirely on the Federal appropriation of $70,000 a year for the maintenance of its militia, the officers commanding the National guard declared that the encampment to begin July 17 would have to be abandoned.

They went to Washington, and with the entire delegation of South Carolina in Congress, asked Secretary Garrison to reconsider his decision to withdraw Federal aid. Mr. Garrison promised to do so on condition that Gov. Bleese "would resume proper relations with the department."

Champion Snake Hunter.

Seven thousand rattlesnakes have bitten the dust in Pike county, Pa., since 1887, all victims of the twisted stick and other implements of destruction in the hands of Jack MacDonnell, of Lord's Valley. He declares he has been bitten a dozen times but that he had rather be bit by a snake than an ugly dog.

Twenty-six years in the hazardous life has dealt lightly with the veteran snake killer. He still makes his living selling the skins of reptiles, which net him $2.50 to $3.00. They are used in the manufacture of belts and pocketbooks.

The fat of the snakes MacDonnell melts into an oil which he distributes free of charge among his friends and neighbors to be used in the treatment of earache, stiff joints and rheumatism.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengle, Plainfield, N. J., writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by Paul Drug Co. Ad.

Is It True?

According to statistics presented by the American Institute of Homeopathy, in session at Denver, 500,000 babies of the 2,500,000 babies born each die before they are two months old, and of from "improper food and improper feeding," and 100,000 "from diseases attributable to errors in diet." In presenting the statistics Dr. Joseph P. Cobb, of Chicago, said: "In other words, of the half million babies who fail to live a twelvemonth after birth, 400,000 could be saved if physicians, mothers and nurses used the proper care in feeding them."

It is, at the least, somewhat comforting that the doctor is willing to place much of the blame on the physicians and on the nurses. It is even possible that if the mothers themselves supervised the feeding of the babies, without too much scientific supervision, the death rate would not be so pathetically great. But there are other considerations. The death rate of babies is tremendously greater in the cities than in the country districts or in the smaller towns. Crowded tenements narrow streets, foul atmosphere from the slums, poverty and absolute lack of the necessities of life in very many instances, must bear their share of the burden of the infant death rate.

There has been an awakening of late to the necessity of play grounds in the larger cities for the use of the children of the alleys and the slums. But infants under one year, no matter how healthy, cannot use the play grounds. The play ground is all right—but the beginning of the overthrow of the death rate ought to begin at the beginning of the cause. And that beginning is in the cleaning out of the alleys; the erection of tenement houses of a completely different order than that of the present order; the cleaning of the streets as they ought to be cleaned instead of the cleaning on the order of the demands of politics; the cutting of weeds from the streets—and paying some greater attention to the mother of the infant of two months, or less, for it is in that class, according to Dr. Cobb, that death reaps his harvest of 400,000 annually. In cleaning up politics, also clean up the streets and the tenements—and stay in the country instead of rushing to death in the overcrowded cities!—Owensboro Messenger.

Woman's Age of Beauty.

"At what age is a woman most beautiful?" is a question that has caused a good deal of spirited discussion in Parisian art circles. The president of the School of Fine Arts, M. Ferdinand Humbert, has two ideals. As an artist his favorite type is between the ages of 18 and 25—the period of "radiant youth." As a mere man, however, he considers a woman between the ages of 25 and 35 the most charming and fascinating.

The veteran painter, Harpignies, is not so generous, for he sets the time of beauty at from 16 to 20 years—the age of youthful simplicity unmarred by the cares and anxieties which years bring in their train. M. Gabriel Ferrier, on the other hand, accords to beauty a lengthy reign. He considers the woman of today is beautiful from the age of 25 to 50, for she has become mistress of the art of how to make the best of herself with the help of skilled dressmakers and modists.

M. Bartholome, the famous sculptor of the beautiful Parthenon statues, sets the time of beauty at between the ages of 18 and 25, but with the reservation there is no true beauty without goodness, and that beauty of face and form, without beauty of soul, has no appeal to him.

Jean Boucher, another famous sculptor, says that woman is at her best between the ages 16 and 30, though from youth to old age she is adorable! What would appear to be the most comforting opinion of all, however, from the point of view of the fair sex, is that expressed by the famous portrait painter, Francois Flameng—"A woman's greatest beauty may dawn at any time between the ages of 15 and 50," he says. "Let every man form his own opinion, according to individual taste, as to which of these years a woman is at her best."

A Texas man who lost an umbrella had enough faith in human nature to advertise for it. Investigation has proved that he only recently moved to Texas.

Wise as Solomon or any other experienced married man is the judge who told a husband it was wrong to leave letters where his wife could find them.

In a contest for women only in Paris it was decided that the worst trait a man could possess was selfishness. Many a man will now pay his wife's bills in silence.

Every man who buys a pair of white trousers and a cap with an anchor on it does not own an 18-foot motorboat, even if he does tell every one he is going on a cruise.

Now that the college student is about to obtain his degree will the A. B. mean as much to him as a sheep skin or as an indication of time "At bat."

"Constant Reader" assures an Eastern editor that it is worry that produces the bald pate. In that case how does he explain the apparent exception of the bald-headed row at musical comedy?

TOSCANINI'S DEBUT.

He Was Literally Forced to Conduct Opera the First Time.

As an opera conductor Toscanini seems both to have achieved greatness and to have had greatness thrust upon him. In the Century Max Smith, giving a character sketch of the eminent musician, thus describes his first triumph. Toscanini was in Rio de Janeiro, doing double duty in the opera house as first cellist and assistant chorus master. The season had gone badly from the beginning. One conductor had been rejected, and matters reached a crisis when an indignant audience, assembled to hear "Aida," refused to accept the services of an incompetent substitute, compelling him by main force to leave the orchestra, amid jeers, hisses and catcalls before the unfortunate man had lifted his baton.

The impresario was in a quandary, when a delegation of influential subscribers insisted that he should not abandon the performance. They were ready, they said, to accept as leader any musician in the orchestra rather than the man dismissed.

Some one suggested Toscanini, who beat a retreat to the stage, where he was found trying to hide in the wings. His efforts to escape were futile. No excuse was accepted. Forced into the clamorous coat worn by the costumer of the theater, he was dragged into the pit and lifted bodily to the conductor's stand, while the crowd roared its approval.

The youthful maestro seized the baton, and suddenly the noise was quelled. He held at once the undivided attention not only of the orchestra, but of the mob. Every one could see that he was conducting from memory. Even then, making his first appearance as a leader, he was independent of the score, and so an evening that begun with tumultuous protests ended with boisterous demonstrations of enthusiasm, insuring the cellist's employment as conductor to the end of the season. Brute force had launched him on his brilliant career. The news of his sensational debut was flashed across the ocean, and thereafter the doors of every opera house in Italy were open to him.

STAGE VILLAINS.

Not Those Who Play the Scoundrelly Parts, but the Real Ones.

The true villain of the stage is not always the one who strives to kidnap the heroine and bestow a violent death upon the hero, for jealousy and the acts prompted by it lead not only the ladies but also the men to resort to unprincipled methods to disgrace a rival.

One or two of the tricks are quite common, notably that of doing something to make another player miss his or her cue. In one case an actress carried a fan, which she used deliberately to blow the sound of her low spoken syllables away from the other actress. As a result the latter had great difficulty in catching her cues, so much so that the audience began to speak of her as a poor actress, although in other pieces she had been praised most highly by the critics.

An equally common trick is for the actor to step toward the back of the stage. This causes his victim's face to be turned away from the audience, the consequence being that not only his voice is lost, but his features are invisible and his efforts thus spoiled. Still another device which has been utilized by stage "criminals" is that of anticipating the laugh of a comedian with a broad smile or grin. This little trick takes the edge off the fun resulting from the other actor's lines.

One of the simplest ways of ruining the effect of an act is by dropping something at the crucial moment. The instant this is done the minds of the audience will go like a flash to this unlooked for interruption and are drawn away from the words of the speaker.—New York Mail.

The Panama Canal.

At its narrowest part the isthmus of Panama is only forty miles wide as the crow flies. It runs east and west, and the canal crosses it diagonally from Colon on the north to Panama on the south in a general direction from northwest to southeast. The Pacific terminus of the canal is twenty-two miles east of the northern entrance. In length it is fifty miles from deep water in the Caribbean to deep water in the Pacific.—Youth's Companion.

Pains All Over!

"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guffey, of Broken Arrow, Okla., "to use my letter in any way you want to, if it will induce some suffering woman to try Cardui. I had pains all over, and suffered with an abscess. Three physicians failed to relieve me. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever before, and that means much to me, because I suffered many years with womanly troubles, of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Don't wait, until you are taken down sick, before taking care of yourself. The small aches and pains, and other symptoms of womanly weakness and disease, always mean worse to follow, unless given quick treatment.

You would always keep Cardui handy, if you knew what quick and permanent relief it gives, where weakness and disease of the womanly system makes life seem hard to bear. Cardui has helped over a million women. Try it.

What Lobby Probe Has Demonstrated.

"First—That they have opposed the selection of men opposed to their plans and desires.

"Second—That they have secretly given aid and support, financial and moral, to those who have been subservient to their interests.

"Third—That they have carefully and secretly affected public sentiment, through carefully prepared news matter sent out through press bureaus and otherwise disseminated through the press of the country,

"Fourth—That with great skill they have carried on a propaganda with their business connections and by this means sought to influence votes of Congressmen.

"Fifth—That they have maintained lobbyists in Washington whose business it has been not only to undertake to direct a course of legislation and to oppose all inimical legislation, but to undertake to control the election of the committees of Congress.

"Sixth—In one instance, at least one of these interests, the woolen interests, succeeded in having appointed as confidential clerk of the Republican members of the Finance Committee of the Senate the Secretary of the Woolen Manufacturers' Association, who performed his work so satisfactorily that he was presented by his employers, the woolen manufacturers, with $6,000.

"Seventh—That the sugar interests of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Louisiana and the best sugar interests have made common cause to prevent a reduction of the tariff on sugar.

"Eighth—That there is a community of interests between many of the protracted industries, and that there has been raised and expended directly and indirectly, for the purpose of controlling public sentiment and affecting legislation, many thousands of dollars.

The Tobacco Crop of 1913.

Estimates of tobacco acreage in Kentucky place it at 345,060 acres in 1912. The estimates of production forecast a total crop of 210,603,000 pounds in 1912.

The decline in acreage is due to curtailment of the crop in the dark tobacco region where much of the last year's crop is still unsold and where the prices recently have been anything but satisfactory to the growers. The State Agricultural Commissioner's report for June places the acreage of dark tobacco at 64 per cent. and the condition a little above 75 per cent. On the contrary the acreage of Burley is estimated at 80 per cent. and the condition at 79 per cent. The Burley growers, it should be remembered, have been getting fair prices for their product and thus have found incentive to a big crop.

Vardaman Wars on Negroes.

Four attacks in seven days by negroes upon white women in the streets of Washington in broad daylight has moved Senator Vardaman to action and to speech. He at once began an investigation of offices in which negroes hold high positions and will call upon President Wilson to ask his aid in a movement to keep the negro "in subjection."

"These attacks arise from the recognition given to negroes by the white people in authority in the Government," declares Vardaman.

"This stirs his ambition to be considered socially equal to the white people, and he loses his head entirely. Then, when one makes an attack, it inflames others and so a series develops.

"For his own sake, as well as for the safety of the woman of the white race, the negro must be put in his proper place and kept there. He should not be placed in positions of authority with white people, nor in authority over them.

"On the first occasion the opportunity offers, I shall call on President Wilson and urge him to abandon the practice of appointing negroes to offices of authority or importance.

Gone to His Reward.

Mr. Jackson Holt, who for several years has been a victim of stomach trouble, died at the home of Nelson Eads last Friday.

Mr. Holt was born in Adair county March the 27th, 1832, making him 81 years old last March.

Soon after he had reached his majority he was married to a Miss Powell, of Adair county. To the union three children were born. After the death of his first wife he was married to Miss Emiline Bowmer, and to this union eight children were born.

The deceased joined the Christian Church at Bethany about forty seven years ago, and lived a consistent member till the end came. He had been in declining health for several years, gradually growing worse, until he knew that his stay here on this earth would soon be ended. When the end came he passed away peacefully, falling into a slumber as his friends thought, he crossed the divide, and paid the debt we all will have to pay.

On Saturday last he was laid to rest in the old Antioch grave yard in Casey county. Revs. Todd and Pearvy conducted the funeral services. Besides nine children he leaves a host of friends to grieve for him, but their loss is his eternal gain. We believe he is now enjoying the fruits of a well spent life in the Paradise of God.
